ACADEMIC ACHIEVEMENTS

In this parts, I would like to provide you with some academic achievements I was awarded from primary education to high school education.

PRIMARY EDUCATIONAL ACHIEVEMENTS

In Myanmar, Grade 1 to 5 is considered primary education. Besides, B.E.P.S means Basic Education Primary School, which consists of five Grades. During these periods, I achieved outstanding student, scholarship student, and selected candidate in English Subject.

(It was about nine years ago from now, so that some of the documents are missing and some are destroyed.)

THE SCHOLARSHIP CHOSEN ONE

Three types of Government's official examinations.

- What a memorable moment for me and my parents either. I was chosen as a scholarship student unexpectedly for the first time in my life. I achieved both the highest marks and highest marks in individual subjects in school.
- Besides, it was the first time for me and the school either. However, since I left B.E.P.S, I guess there will be students who are much smarter than me.

Highest total marks & Highest marks in individual subjects (Grade 5)

HIGH SCHOOL EDUCATIONAL ACHIEVEMENTS

After Grade 5, I attended at B.E.H.S No.1, also known as Basic Education High School. (By the way, both primary and high schools locate in North Dagon Township, which is my lovely home town.) I studied from Grade 6 to 10 at B.E.H.S No.1. During these days, I mostly focused on sport and team works rather than academic.

HIGH SCHOOL EDUCATIONAL ACHIEVEMENTS

Outstanding student in Grade 9

Three types of Government's official examinations.

- In Myanmar official education, there were three types of nationwide examinations along with eight examinations held by individual school.
- During three nationwide exams, I achieved 1st in Grade 5, and outstanding student award in Grade 9 (which is shown grading A besides this paragraph).
- However, due to some political instabilities and Coronavirus pandemic, I chose to drop out Grade 11 examination, which is the highest examination for Basic Education System, and studied GED.

INTERNATIONAL EDUCATION JOURNEY

Since I was a traditional student, I lack sufficient knowledge about International Education. Therefore, it was hard to choose whether I should study IGCSE or GED. However, I went for GED, which seemed much flexible and affordable for my family. Although it was challenging for me to begin an international education journey, I assume that managed to overcome. Besides, since English proficiency test is required for university admission, I also studied IELTS.

GED VERIFICATION LETTERS

To Whom It May Concern:

Student: HAN HTOO AUNG

The above student has completed all requirements and has earned the high school equivalency credential from the Office of the State Superintendent of Education in Washington, D.C. This individual is considered a high school, grade 12, level graduate per the attached cover letter and the attached secure electronic document.

The Superintendent's office in Washington, D.C. issues high school equivalency certificates for individuals who have passed all required GED® test subjects outside of the United States ("GED® Credential"). The GED® Credential is accepted by virtually all U.S. universities, employers, and is recognized across the world.

GED Testing Service® (a joint venture of Pearson and the American Council on Education) is the sole provider of the official GED test® and recommends that universities, ministries of education, employers, and other postsecondary educational institutions outside the U.S. recognize the GED® Credential as equivalent to a U.S. High School Diploma for entrance into universities and as a qualification for employment.

The GED® test version, which was first developed in 1942, is nationally recognized and measures an individual's performance in the subjects of mathematics, reading and writing, social studies, and science. It emphasizes critical thinking and problem-solving skills over rote memorization. More than 20 million students worldwide have earned their high school equivalency GED® Credential since 1942. In 2019, students in more than 90 countries earned the GED® Credential.

Electronic GED® Credentials

GED® credentials are securely issued electronically to eliminate document tampering, fraud, and enable processing and distribution of credentials. GED Testing Service® has partnered with Parchment to launch GED Credentialing®, an electronic credentialing service that easily and securely allows test-takers and institutions to request credentials. GED Credentialing® uses patented Blue-Ribbon technology certifying the validity and assurance of the issued document. Institutions and organizations do not separately need a credential verification from GED Testing Service® because the technology detects document tampering and confirms document authenticity. Paper credentials are available, if necessary, and contain multiple security features to prevent unauthorized duplication. To verify the authenticity of the transcript/credential, please see the instructions on the cover page.
